Overview

India International Hotel, Travel and Tourism Research Conference series has become the most prominent International Conference in the field of Hotel, Travel and Tourism. Banarsidas Chandiwala Institute of Hotel Management & Catering Technology has been conducting the conference since 2009, involving the Tourism & Hospitality Industry. The upcoming 17th edition of the conference in 2027 will focus on the theme “Shaping the Future Host: Integrating Indian Knowledge System with Global Tourism and Hospitality Education for Gen-Next Talent.” The conference will include formal presentations, workshops, awards, and various industry-related forums. Apart from the regular presentations, the conference will include keynote addresses by eminent speakers and experts from both industry and academia.

Objective

Global tourism and hospitality education is now travelling on transformative crossroads, shaped by rapid technological advances, evolving traveler expectations, and the urgent call for sustainable, values-driven growth. India’s civilizational depth-anchored in Yoga, Ayurveda, and Holistic living offers timeless insights that can enrich global hospitality practices. The guiding principles of “Vasudhaiva Kutumbakam” (the world is one family) and “Atithi Devo Bhava” (the guest is God) represent an inclusive, guest-centric ethos that resonates deeply with today’s experience-seeking traveler. Integrating the Indian Knowledge System into global curriculum can cultivate culturally intelligent and sustainability-oriented professionals ready to lead the next era of hospitality. The 17th India International Hotel, Travel, and Tourism Research Conference seeks to convene global experts, education facilitators, and industry leaders to exchange ideas, share innovations, and co-create strategies for shaping Gen-Next talent. This conference aims to bridge tradition and technology, ensuring future hosts embodies both service excellence and cultural consciousness for hallmarking the India’s enduring hospitality legacy.
